> Now her heart is normal and that's her very own valentine. Charmaine's parents brought her from Jackson, Mich., for the operation at Cleveland Clinic.

The surgeons repaired the structural defect. But they also noticed that the section of the heart which gives the big muscles their pace was weak. It was supposed to give the muscles a good electrical signal, but was providing only a weak impulse.

So before they closed the incision in her chest, they sewed two tiny wires to the heart's own pacemaker. Betancourt To Become First Freely Elected Chieftain in 10 Years

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) -Proops and police stood guard today against the threats of Communists and rightists to disrupt the austerity inauguration of President Romulo Betancourt.

Betancourt, 50, a moderate leftist and political veteran, is Venezuela's first freely elected president in 10 years. The leader of the Democratic Action party, he is opposed by supporters of ousted dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez, Caracans who voted heavily for the leader of the junta which replaced Perez Jimenez, and the Reds.

Intelligence agents said the op position planned street disorders during the inauguration, with women dressed in black to block traffic around the Capitol while demonstrators denounced the president.

The newspaper Pregon said free liquor was distributed in a big working class neighborhood to get gangs of youths drunk so they would roam the streets and cause trouble. A demonstration reportedly arranged for midnight in the central El Silencio district of Caracas did not come off, however. Streets in the area were practically deserted. The district was the site of battles between police and rioters Tuesday night. Betancourt ordered the inaugural ceremonies kept simple because of the legacy of unemployment and poverty from the ousted dictatorship. He dispensed with the usual parade, grand ball banquet. The most elaborate event was a formal reception Thursday night at the Foreign Ministry for foreign delegates to the inaugural. Only a small crowd turned out in Betancourt made plain that be would not rush ahead with the proposals by leftist and nationalistic elements that the foreign operators of the oil industry give Venezuela a much larger share of the profits.

Mud Run Ditch

The final report of estimated costs and schedules of reconstruction of Mud Run Ditch, also known as Hamilton or Kirkpatrick Ditch, will be filed March 10, it was reported today by Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady.

The ditch reconstruction was asked in a petition filed by Mc-Kinley Kirk, Washington C. H. He petitioned the ditch be reconstructed, widened, deepened, straightened, altered, cleaned and repaired.

The ditch starts in Ross County, cuts through Pickaway County on its western border and ends in Fayette County. Chief engineer of the project, McCrady Tuesday asked for and was granted an extension of 30 days for final reports and schedules

McCrady said the extension was necessary due to last month's today by area Me a r i n e Recruite damaging flood, preventing the Glen M. Donston, acting Master three county engineers from preparing final plans.

Jackson, speaking at the 21st congress of the Soviet communist party, told his Russian comrades that "many communists are languishing in the jails of the United States" and predicted the Soviet Union's latest seven-year plan will boost that country to a "height unattainable in the capitalist world.'

Foster, in a 5,000-word letter to Red China's Mao Tse-tung, deplored the fact that illness had prevented him from visiting "revolutionary China," attacked the U. S. position of non-recognition of that government, offered his apologies for the decline in membership of the U.S. communist party, and wound up with the state-

"I have not given up my efforts to get a passport that will enable me to visit the countries of socialism. Incidentally, I hope to get a better medical treatment in these countries than I can possibly get here in the United States."

Overlooking the obvious propaganda inserts from the utterances of these two men (what communists are in U. S. jails? The viction under the Smith Act which has been appealed to it), why should they feel called upon to apologize for their failures? They have not failed.

Certainly, the U. S. communist party has lost membership, the Daily Worker is defunct, soap box pinks have lost their following, and no officeholders were elected on their ticket. But the communist party has received more than sufficient compensation for its losses in aid rendered by erstwhile capitalists.

The recent grand tour of the country by the butcher of Hungary Mikoyan poignantly demonstrated the number of corporation heads, bankers, politicians and other American leaders who have succumbed to the enticements, if not the ideologies, of Failures of the party? It has succeeded beyond the wildest expectations of its founders because it has infiltrated a segment of the population heretofore held to be its most violent antagonist. The Kremlin should have naught but praise for its American agents. They have performed their work well.

By George Sokolsky tain periods of his life. Higher Forms of Racketeering

The word, racket, used to mean to make a noise. However, since the good, old days of Prohibition, it has come to have another meaning, broader, more inclusive. A racket is an illegal enterprise in which men engage with the overt or covert consent of government officials. Sometimes the front men in a racket are called racketeers, but they are rarely those who make the big profits.

It is impossible for one man to work a racket alone. He needs the assistance of a fixer, who is either a politician or a lawyer or both; he may need the help of someone in a law enforcement agency who is willing not to enforce the law; he may require special banking facilities or more often connects with a Shylock than with a legitimate bank. A racketeer, therefore, either is part of a syndicate or to use a more lowly term, "The Mob.

Rackets are not limited to vice, narcotics, murder. These are the lower forms of rackets, practiced by mobsters and producing the least money per racketeer. Gambling is a higher form of racketeering and the take is cut with bigger politicians. Gambling, even if legal, requires special protection and gets it. Vice is sometimes practiced by individual ladies of the night who can function without police protection for a prolonged period, but generally vice is male controlled and is a racket which means that it has protection, either legal or political.

The higher forms of rackets involve the sale of fraudulent stocks, the arrangements for income tax evasion or avoidance, contracting for sales and services to Federal, state and municipal governments, the allocation of territory for businesses, labor union goon operations, and similar activities. These rackets often require the connivance of highly placed officials, reputable businessmen, bankers, lawyers and politicians. For instance, walk into a million dollar high school or a municipal office building and ask yourself why sculptured bronze doors are required or why marble is so unsparingly used. Inquire about the salt used in your city on slippery streets during the winter.

Who always has the contract? Check on a simple item of snow removal and note the excessive cost of trucks. Look into the costs of typewriters, sewing machines, lead pencils and similar items in your city schools.

Where does it come from?

In many places, these are racket items that pass unnoticed because the taxpayer is not conscious of the fact that it is waste and duplication that hit him hardest in all budgets. The Hoover Commission discovered that in the Federal Government; anyone who has studied racketeering in municipalities knows that to be true.

What is generally termed "labor racketeering" is a different thing altogether. Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, John L. Lewis and, for that matter, all the great leaders of trade unionism in this country, had nothing to do with racketeering. Samuel Gompers, who founded the American Federation of Labor, died a comparatively poor man. It was during the Roosevelt Administration that the labor leaders (not the unions per se) got a law, the National Labor Relations Act, which made them powerful personalities not only in their unions but in the country. It is true that there was a period when labor unions hired acid throwers and even killers either to suppress competing unions or to force employers to their will. But Lee Pressman, Nathan Witt and their colleagues showed them a better way. Get a law and an agency to enforce the law in your favor and you become both legitimate and powerful. The NLRA and the NLRB did exactly that.

The Taft - Hartley Law, designed to correct abuses, has not accomplished its objective. Rather, it has been so successfully manipulated to protect the labor bosses that all attempts to change it have failed. Thus far, the measure introduced in the 86th Congress will protect the labor bosses.

Two tendencies have appeared in trade unionism which are perilous: one is a personal combination of labor leaders and mobsters for their mutual benefit. (The workers do not benefit; the unions, as organizations, do not benefit.) The second is the outright purchase of political power by financial support, directly or indirectly, of members of Congress and other politicians. Before each election, lists are published of candidates who are friendly to labor. Labor reciprocates. This is not specifically racketeering. Another word is required to define it.

The word, racket, used to mean to make a noise. However, since the good, old days of Prohibition, it has come to have another meaning, broader, more inclusive. A racket is an illegal enterprise in which men engage with the overt or covert consent of government officials. Sometimes the front men in a racket are called racketeers, but they are rarely those who make the big profits.

It is impossible for one man to work a racket alone. He needs the assistance of a fixer, who is either a politician or a lawyer or both; he may need the help of someone in a law enforcement agency who is willing not to enforce the law; he may require special banking facilities or more often connects with a Shylock than with a legitimate bank. A racketeer, therefore, either is part of a syndicate or to use a more lowly term, "The

Rackets are not limited to vice, narcotics, murder. These are the lower forms of rackets, practiced by mobsters and producing the least money per racketeer. Gambling is a higher form of racketeering and the take is cut with bigger politicians. Gambling, even if legal, requires special protection and gets it. Vice is sometimes practiced by individual ladies of the night who can function without police protection for a prolonged period, but generally vice is male controlled and is a racket which means that it has protec-

Higher Forms of Racketeering nicipal governments, the allocation of territory for businesses, labor union goon operations, and similar activities. These rackets often require the connivance of highly placed officials, reputable businessmen, bankers, lawyers and politicians. For instance, walk into a million dollar high school or a municipal office building and ask yourself why sculptured bronze doors are required or why marble is so unsparingly used. Inquire about the salt used in your city on slippery streets during the winter. Where does it come from?

Who always has the contract? Check on a simple item of snow removal and note the excessive cost of trucks. Look into the costs of typewriters, sewing machines, lead pencils and similar items in your city schools.

In many places, these are racket items that pass unnoticed because the taxpayer is not conscious of the fact that it is waste and duplication that hit him hardest in all budgets. The Hoover Commission discovered that in the Federal Government; anyone who has studied racketeering in municipalities knows that to be true.

What is generally termed "labor racketeering" is a different thing altogether. Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, John L. Lewis" and, for that matter, all the great leaders of trade unionism in this country, had nothing to do with racketeering. Samuel Gompers, who founded the American Federation of Labor, died a comparatively poor man. It was during the Roosevelt

Administration that the labor leaders (not the unions per se) got a law, the National Labor Relations Act, which made them powerful personalities not only in their unions but in the country. It is true that there was a period when labor unions hired acid throwers and even killers either to suppress competing unions or to force employers to their will. But Lee Pressman, Nathan Witt and their colleagues showed them a better way. Get a law and an agency to enforce the law in your favor and you become both legitimate and powerful. The NLRA and the NLRB did exactly that. The Taft - Hartley Law, designed to correct abuses, has not accomplished its objective. Rather, it has been so successfully manipulated to protect the labor bosses that all attempts to change it have failed. Thus far, the measure introduced in the 86th Congress will protect the la-

Two tendencies have appeared in trade unionism which are perilous: one is a personal combination of labor leaders and mobsters for their mutual benefit. (The workers do not benefit; the unions, as organizations, do not benefit.) The second is the outright purchase of political rectly or indirectly, of members of Congress and other politicians. Before each election, lists are published of candidates who are friendly to labor. Labor reciprocates. This is not specif-

Record Storing Is Big Problem For Business

1 Out of Every 7 Aides Now Employed in Field Of Clerical Work

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) - Whether it's in a tiny efficiency apartment or a giant corporation's home office skyscraper the making and storing of records is a steadily growing problem.

More than nine million clerical employes, or about one out of every seven workers in the land, are tackling the job today

The National Records Management Council says that 50 years ago there was one clerical worker for every 20 employes.

Much of the mounting volume of records has to be retained-to meet government requirements and corporate needs. How long various kinds of records must go on taking up storage space is the problem faced by families and companies alike

A number of trade associations and accounting groups have issued schedules.

Violence Mars Logan Strike

Carborundum Chief's Home Is Peppered

LOGAN (AP) - Further violence was reported Thursday in the 10-day strike at the Carborundum Co. plant here.

Grant Byrnes, plant manager, told police he discovered about 200 pellets had been blasted into his home from a shotgun during the night. Byrnes said his family was not awakened by the shot and he discovered the damage when he left for work in the morning.

Sheriff A. J. Waldron said he has asked the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification to look into the matter.

At Athens, police are investigating the hurling of a pickle jar full of gasoline through a window at the home of Chester Root, an employe who has continued to work during the strike.

Tire slashings and similar incidents have been reported previ-

James Auer, president of Local 11630 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union, which represents production, maintenance and cafeteria workers at the plant, said:

"We are investigating and so far have found no member who has committed any acts of violence.

A common pleas court hearing is set for next Wednesday, following contempt of court charges against 11 union members Wednesday. They are charged with violating a temporary injunction limiting pickets.

Workers at the plant, which makes abrasive wheels, voted in October to accept the union, and contract negotiations began in November. They broke down early this month. The union asks a 20cent hourly increase across the board and union shop.

Office workers, who do not belong to the union, have continued to work. About 53 production line workers reported today, six more than Wednesday and 11 more than Tuesday. The plant employs about

Record Storing Is Big Problem For Business

1 Out of Every 7 Aides Now Employed in Field Of Clerical Work

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) - Whether it's in a tiny efficiency apartment or a giant corporation's home office skyscraper the making and storing of records is a steadily growing problem.

More than nine million clerical employes, or about one out of every seven workers in the land, are tackling the job today.

The National Records Management Council says that 50 years ago there was one clerical worker for every 20 employes.

Much of the mounting volume of records has to be retained-to meet government requirements and corporate needs. How long various kinds of records must go on taking up storage space is the problem faced by families and companies alike.

New Frontier Program for Circle No. 1

Circle No. 1 of First Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon in the church annex. The thirteen members present went to the church in a body for mediation and Communion, in observance of Ash Wednesday

Miss Reba Lee was in charge of the program, "A New Frontier-Literacy and Christian Literature". She told of the outstanding work being done by the literacy tempt and persevere in teaching reading and writing to the illiterate, who make up almost one-half of our world. The rate of illiteracy is highest in Africa and Asia, where the majority of the populat ion can neither read nor write.

The business session was conduc ted by the chairman, Mrs. A. P Powell. A collection was taken for the Lancaster School of Missions to be held in July. Mrs. Powell reminded the circle that the remainder of the tax stamps for refund this year must be given to Mrs. Schweizer in the next few weeks. The list of those baking cherry pies for the George Washington Birth day dinner on Wednesday, February 18, was checked. Anyone unab le to bring her pie to church was asked to contact Mrs. Powell.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. George Grubb, Mrs Barton Deming, Mrs. Robert Rader and Mrs. Charles Thomas. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Powell, Seyfert Ave. on March 11.

Finding time to have a friend in for the afternoon is no problem when you have an electric dryer to help you. Low-cost electric drying does more than dry your clothes fluffy and sweet. It saves you time and energy, too. Your laundry-day routine is shorter, and there's no back-breaking drudgery of carrying and hanging wet clothes. Then you can use the time and energy you save to be an even better homemaker, wife and mother.

If you don't already know how much an electric dryer can help you, see your electric appliance dealer. He'll be happy to give you a free demonstration.
